Terrible! Terrible! Terrible!

A G. A. R. MAN'S

HORRIBLE CASE OF SALT RHEUM

Quartermaster Wilbur L. Hale of Pratt

Post, G. A. R. Kingston, N. Y., tells a remarkable story. Covered from head to foot with a mass of burning, torturing, itching sores.

"I enlisted in the 30th, N. Y. S. V., was taken prisoner and confined in Belle Isle, Andersonville and Libby Prisons, for one year and ten months. While there contracted Scurvy which terminated in the most horrible case of Salt Rheum I have ever known. It was incurable for a man to have and live. I tried different physicians, but received no benefit. Life was a continual torture to me for my back, arms, chest and legs were one mass of sores. I tried different advertised blood remedies and sarsaparilla, but with no avail. Dr.

David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., was brought to my notice and I determined to try it, and after using it a little while I could see improvement. The sores began to heal, the itching ceased, and I could wear my clothing with comfort. Shortly after my body was entirely healed, every sore had disappeared and for the first time in years, I enjoyed living. Yours truly,

WILBUR L. HALE, Rondout, N. Y.

THE G. A. R.

Contest for Post Commander to Succeed

Col. Cassidy—The Woman's Relief

Corps Taking a Hand—The Future

President of the Corps in Canton.

Indications point to a renewed interest in G. A. R. and W. R. C. circles in Canton.

The parade and friends banquet is going to start the movement and if Ex-Commander J. J. Clark is elected Commander of Canton Post next Wednesday evening and either Mary Hurford or Ada F. Clarke is made President of Canton Corps, the Bazaar will be pushed to success, and we have the promise of a lively winter in Grand Army and Woman's Relief Corps circles. A member of the G. A. R. who belongs to the Clark faction told our reporter this morning that J. J. Clark would probably stand for Post Commander in order to defeat Col. Holloway, who is being mentioned by those who do not pin their love to the W. R. C. It is also learned that either Ada F. Clark or Mary Hurford will be elected President of the ensuing year, as all the thirteen women who now belong to the Corps, are united on either of both of these as first choices. Some of the women of the Corps have been canvassing for the Bazaar during the past ten days, but the movement has been temporarily suspended, in order to organize a victory for the Clark faction in the two elections of the Post and Corps.

If these elections are satisfactory the Bazaar will proceed; but if Col. Holloway should be elected Commander of the Post, it is understood all active work for the Bazaar will be abandoned by the remains of the W. R. C. We shall aim to print whatever transcripts of public interest in these contests. We shall be entirely satisfied with the result, as we are all happy with either were 'tother dear clamer away.

AN AMUSING EPISODE.

A Farmer Objects to George Patton Hunting Game on His Place.

George Patton and Sam Willis went out to the latter's farm Tuesday, and after hunting for game, Patton got onto Squire Hilcher's farm and had his eagle eye on a fine bird, when the Squire appeared.

The hunter went right ahead after that bird, not heeding the excited cries of the Squire. Now Patton, unfortunately, is a little deaf and did not hear the 'Squire's' cries. He was ordered off the place a dozen times in as many seconds but he didn't know it hence kept right on with his hunting expedition.

Finally the Squire became so exasperated that he started into the house, bent on securing a weapon with which to forever disperse with the trespasser who still had his eye on that bird. In the meantime Sam Willis had rolled off the fence in a convulsion of laughter. Squire Hilcher came out of the house with a big horse pistol and noting that Patton paid no attention whatever to him, pointed the weapon towards the cloud and fired.

The old pistol made a noise like unto that made at the bombardment of Fort Sumpter and Patton's attention was attracted.

He didn't know he was an unwelcome visitor or that the Squire had fired to scare him away from his premises, so he walked up to the Squire and held out his hand, inquiring if he got any game. This was more than the now thoroughly angered Squire could stand and an encounter between the two men was imminent. With the assistance of Sam Willis the myter was easily adjusted. The pair ton still swears that the Squire must have been whispering when he ordered him off the place.

A BOX OF TOOLS

Figures in an Arrest Made by Officer

Becherer Today.

Mrs. Gilbooley, a character well known in police circles, is behind the bars at the city prison. Officer Becherer arrested her this afternoon. The woman was gloriously drunk and was hardly able to stand.

This incident is the latest in a series of troubles which have befallen her. On last Friday morning, she was engaged in a quarrel with her husband, Pat, and she struck him in the face with a bottle, shattering the jawbone. The man was unable to go out of the house for several days and Mrs. Gilbooley was arrested on a charge of assault and battery.

She was released on bail and returned home until today.

This morning she again sallied forth with them and still failed to get cash for them. She then took them to the barn of Joe Skinner on Hans street and left the box there on a wagon. It appears the woman places little trust in humanity in general, and being afraid some one would carry off the tools she got into the wagon and kept watch over the box for about two hours.

Mrs. John Gilbooley, of Marion street, attempted to take it away from her but she wouldn't move off of it. Officer Becherer went down to the Skinner place this afternoon and placed her under arrest. The tools were restored to the owner and Mrs. Gilbooley is now in the city prison.
